

Investing in sustainable development through sovereign SDG bonds: Launch of GISD guidance on sovereign SDG bonds

Side-event: 2024 Financing for Development Forum and SDG Investment Fair
23 April 2024 | Conference Room 8, UN HQ, New York | 16:30-18:00

Over the last few years, the issuance of sovereign SDG bonds (in both use-of-proceeds and sustainability-linked structures) by governments to finance their sustainable development priorities has been increasing. Several countries have issued bonds that have targets, KPIs and projects linked to the SDGs.

Sovereign SDG bonds are rooted in the countries needs to finance sustainable development and an opportunity for countries to draw investments toward the sectors that needed the most. Countries have started including SDG bonds in their Integrated National Financing Frameworks that lay out the country's overall sustainable development financing needs.

SDG bonds have the potential to advance the SDGs. Nevertheless, there are challenges, such as concerns related to SDG-washing for example, as the market grows. It would be helpful for both countries and investors to understand lessons learnt, constraints, and best practices from the examples so far.

The Global Investors for Sustainable Development (GISD) Alliance, under the leadership of UNDESA and the United Nations Development Programme, has developed integrated guidance for the benefit of sovereign borrowers considering SDG bonds, and investors looking to scale up investments through these instruments.

The proposed side-event will launch the guidance with a presentation on the overview of the current state of the sovereign SDG bonds market. The presentation will include key recommendations in the guidance followed by a discussion on the challenges and solutions from the perspective of both the private sector and countries. The discussion will be guided by the following questions:

- i. What are the wider benefits of SDG bonds?
- ii. What are the main challenges faced by countries interested in utilising these instruments?
- iii. How do we mitigate SDG-washing and make sure that these investments meaningfully contribute to sustainable development?
- iv. What needs does the private sector have that are not currently being met by issuers and other market actors?
- v. What solutions can be brought forward to scale this market in a sustainable way?
